HAPPY, HEALTHY, THANKFUL, FREE

Last week I wrote about being happy and content. Today, let us take happy a step forward to having a healthy mind.

Let us be healthy. Being healthy is harder to do than just willing it to happen. I personally feel when I get sick that my body betrays me and is working outside of my mind to defeat my positive thoughts. I have far too much to do to feel bad and be sick, go to the doctors, stand in line at the pharmacy and try to remember what pill to take when and why.

When we are sick, do we ask for prayers from our family, our friends, our church family or do we think we can manage our illness on our own. Do we actually ask God to heal our bodies or do we assume he knows we are sick and we will get well or He will see us sooner than later. Some of us have the genetics cards stacked against us as far as cancer, heart problems, liver disease and the list goes on and on. When I was a child, people got sick and they either got better or they passed away. Now, it seems there is a semi-cure for everything. Times have changed and miracles do happen. Doctors, with modern day medicines can restore good health on a regular basis. Doctors who believe in God and believe in his healing powers have a far better percentage of full recovery of their patients. That is a proven statistic. 3 John 1:2 Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.

I believe a pleasant mind thought is also a way to a healthy body. Have you ever called someone and made the mistake of asking how they are doing? After an eternity of complaining about all their aches and pains you wished you had not extended your kindness. Now you are feeling a little sick and under the weather yourself. God's love pours from our bodies when we engage in a positive attitude. Many of our illnesses are a disease of mind, body and spirit. A proactive and positive spirit will help us be a warrior for not only ourselves but an inspiration to those to look at our loving and rejoicing spirit.
